The Solemnity of All Saints November 1, 2020

See what love the Father has bestowed on us that we may be called the children of God.
— 1 John 3:1

FROM THE PASTOR...

This week we celebrate two wonderful feast days: All Saints and All Souls.

The celebration of All Saints gives us a peek into our eternal destiny. The saints we celebrate were men and women like us. Where we are now, they used to be, and where they are now, we hope to be someday. As Christians we know that a person's life story is not limited to what happens to them between the day they are born and the day they die. We do not simply forget people after they die. As we profess in the Creed, "We believe in the Communion of Saints," - they live! Their departure from this life is not the end; for us believers 'life is changed not ended'. In the eyes of the foolish, they are dead and gone. But with the eyes of faith we know that they are alive. They are now fully alive in God.

On this feast we remember the heroic lives of the unknown and for the most part unnamed people, anonymous men and women who lived the gospel message to the best of their ability and gifts. But on Monday we also celebrate the Feast of All Souls. In the silence of our hearts we remember, not only the saints proclaimed in the Church but also the names of those who have gone before us. We stand on the foundation of their faith. The faithful departed, who passed on the faith to us; parents, grandparents, priest, sister, teacher, a neighbor, an unknown person that gave witness to Christ. We give thanks to God for all those who have helped us in our faith and we pray for them and for all the faithful departed.

"Faithful Citizenship" and the Upcoming Election

uscbb.org/offices/justice-peace-human-development

The Catholic bishops of the United States (USCCB) are offering once again to the Catholic faithful "Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship," a teaching document on the political responsibility of Catholics. This statement represents the bishops' guidance for Catholics in the exercise of their rights and duties as participants in our democracy. Pastors, lay and religious faithful, and all people of good will are urged to use this statement to help form their consciences; to teach those entrusted to their care; to contribute to civil and respectful public dialogue; and to shape political choices in the coming election in light of Catholic teaching. The statement lifts up our dual heritage as both faithful Catholics and American citizens with rights and duties as participants in the civil order. Read Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship: A Call to Political Responsibility from the Catholic Bishops of the United States (en Español), which provides a framework for Catholics in the United States. (English PDF | PDF en Español). The California Catholic Bishops' Conference has many resources related to election issues in our state, including analysis of ballot propositions. We pray for the deceased members of our parish family:

All Saints Know Your Saints

The Gospel for today's feast is always Matthew's account of the Beatitudes. At first they seem to favor the meek, the humble, the merciful. But then Jesus ends with some tough ones, aimed at those who are persecuted, insulted, and slandered. While it may sound negative, Jesus is actually giving us encouragement. We should expect to be treated harshly by unbelievers. In fact, some Christians would say that if you haven't made any enemies, you might not be a true disciple. So how do all those meek, humble, and merciful folks make enemies?

Jesus isn't telling us to make enemies, but not to be afraid if we do. An important part of our faith is the imperative to spread it. Some people do that by sharing their faith during their lunch break. Others teach formation classes to prospective Christians. Some try to bring Christian values into the legal system by advocating for the rights of the poor, the unborn, or immigrants. Some become missionaries in countries that disapprove of Christianity.

So there are many ways to spread the faith, and many types of saints who are celebrated today. Some were rejected by their families, some by their friends, and others by local government or even religious leaders. Some even gave their lives for their faith. That's what the first reading means by "washed . . . in the blood of the Lamb" (Revelation 7:14).

Maybe today would be a good day to learn about your favorite saint. What made her special? How did he spread the faith? What persecution did they suffer? Perhaps you could talk about the saints with your children. What saint shares a name with your child? As St. John says in the second reading, we are all God's children (1 John 3:2). The world that did not know Jesus does not know us. As we get to know our favorite saints, their lives can inspire us to face persecution or ridicule for our faith--or at least give us the courage to talk about our faith, and maybe change someone else's life. -Tom Schmidt, Copyright (c) J. S. Paluch Co.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

Today we celebrate the saints who live in glory, and the vast number of people who have gone before us in the Christian life as "works in progress." Reading any saint's biography, you quickly become aware that they were persons singularly aware of their faults and sins, their human propensity to miss the mark. Penance is a recurring theme in their lives, and many found a "confessor" who coached them in the spiritual life.

Today, a new form of penance can coach us in our journey, because the setting is an assembly of the faithful. In this form, there is time given for people who wish to confess and be absolved to meet privately with a priest for a few moments. Before the community is dismissed, everyone joins in an act of praise for God's mercy, usually by singing a hymn together. The individual part is not compulsory, and you can certainly participate fully and fruitfully without the individual confession. The joy of this liturgy is itself an impetus to change and to open up more fully to this wonderful gift of our faith. You have already been forgiven, of course. That was accomplished for you on the cross. It is the Christian task to open ourselves up, as did the saints, to the reality of that gift.
